

Congress Okays Alaska Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress quickly passed and sent to President Johnson Monday a bill providing $50 million to help rebuild public facilities destroyed in the recent Alaskan earthquake.

The bill was introduced in the House Monday morning, passed unanimously within an hour, and approved shortly afterwards by voice vote in the Senate.

At the same time speakers in both Houses said the money is only a small portion of what's needed to rehabilitate the state.

Santa Claus Weathers Quake

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Relax, kids. Santa Claus and his reindeer came through the great Alaskan earthquake without a scratch.

That was the reassuring word Monday from the Region 8 Civil Defense headquarters, which said it had been swamped with inquiries from children to find out how Santa fared.

A radio message to the town of North Pole, 15 miles from Fairbanks, Alaska, brought a reply that all was well there and toy deliveries would be made on schedule next Christmas.

Case Against Cohn Rests

NEW YORK (AP)—The government rested its case Monday after presenting 22 witnesses in the trial of attorney Roy M. Cohn and Murray E. Gottesman. They are accused of perjury and conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The final government witness on the 10th day of the trial in U.S. District Court was Allard Roen, Las Vegas resort manager.

He testified he paid former Chief Asst. U.S. Atty. Morton Robson about $33,333. The other third of a $50,000 sum, Roen said, went to Cohn.

104 Candles For Scranton Woman

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—"Never make plans for tomorrow—just for today," is the creed of Mrs. Sara Frank Kline of Scranton as she observed her 104th birthday Monday.

Birthday plans for Mrs. Kline included a visit from her granddaughters, Mrs. Peggy Friedman, Lancaster, Ky., and Mrs. Jane Vandenberg, Philadelphia, and from Scranton Mayor William T. Schmidt.

Navy Laboratory On Floor Of Sea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy said Monday four deep-sea divers will spend three weeks living and working on the bottom of the Atlantic this summer.

The four divers, one of them a Navy doctor and three enlisted men, will live in a 40-foot-long laboratory 192 feet below the surface.

Navy officers, discussing the experiment with newsmen, said it is a radically different concept under which men can work for long periods deep under the surface of the water.

Second Beckwith Trial Begins

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—State prosecutors, moving faster than before, accepted eleven white men Monday night for jury duty in the second murder trial for Byron De La Beckwith.

Defense attorneys had not examined any of the prospective jurors when Circuit Judge Leon Hendrick adjourned court after nearly 10 hours.

Beckwith, 43, is accused of murder in the ambush slaying of Medgar Evers, a Negro civil rights leader, last June 12.

It took four days to select a jury for Beckwith's first trial, which ended earlier this year with the panel deadlocked.

Somewhat surprisingly, only 11 persons were excused by Hendrick for having formed a fixed opinion in the case.

Stock Market Hits New High

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced Monday for the fourth straight session. Average gains posted historic highs. Trading was heavy.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 1.77 to a new high of 524.76.

Volume was 3.85 million shares compared with 3.99 million Friday.

Belgians Arrest 2 Striking Doctors

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Two striking doctors were arrested Monday on charges of failing to help a person in distress—an 18-month-old boy who died of what police described as a serious lung ailment.

The police said the doctors—one of them the mayor of the town of Olen—did not answer the call of the boy's parents for six hours.

The doctors' federation, fostering a strike of Belgium's 12,000 doctors and dentists in a dispute over socialized medicine, contended, however, that the parents had indicated to the doctors that the boy's illness was not serious and that the six-hour time lag was not unusual.

Two Killed During Cyprus Cease Fire

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Four Turkish Cypriots were taken outside Nicosia Monday night and gunned down, U.N. headquarters said. Two died, one was wounded and the fourth man was missing.

The Turkish Cypriot vice president, Dr. Fazil Kuchuk, charged that the shooting was carried out by Greek Cypriots, basing his accusation on the story told by the survivor.

The incident posed a new crisis for U.N. forces, which had just arranged a cease-fire between the warring ethnic communities in western Cyprus.

U.N. troops and Cyprus police joined in searching for the missing man.

A spokesman for the Greek-dominated Cyprus police said a full investigation was ordered into what he described as "an abominable crime." The spokesman appealed to the public to give the police any information likely to help in the arrest of the culprits.

Two bodies were found in a field outside Nicosia shortly before midnight by British troops attached to the U. N. peace-keeping force.

Lillian Reis Denies Link With Theft

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Lillian Reis Monday denied she had anything to do with the burglary of John B. Rich's home here.

The 34-year-old dancer, on trial in Schuylkill County Court for the second time for the plotting and looting of Rich's safe in 1959, testified:

"I did not rob Rich or anybody else. I did not hire anybody to rob Rich. I didn't know where Rich's home was until Ferguson mentioned it."

She referred to Philadelphia police Capt. Clarence J. Ferguson, one of the investigators in the Rich burglary.

Miss Reis' appearance on the witness stand was her first in the Pottsville burglary. She did not testify at her first trial which ended in a deadlocked jury in 1961.

She is accused of masterminding the Rich robbery. Police said the loot was $478,000. Rich has said his loss was $20,000, mostly in jewels.

The state has claimed Miss Reis used part of the share of the Rich burglary to buy the Celebrity Room nightclub in Philadelphia.

Bangor Buys Garage For Borough

BANGOR — Bangor Borough Council last night authorized the purchase of the Russell T. Brown garage on S. Main Street at a cost of $16,000.

The garage will be used for general borough storage and as a work center.

Miles Heller, chairman of the safety committee, reported the delivery of the new American-LaFrance pumper to the rescue fire company. The new equipment was purchased by the borough at a cost of $19,940.

In an effort to supply additional cooperation with the Bangor Chamber of Commerce, John Paecoli, president of the council, named the following council members to a Better Bangor Committee:

Gilmore Strunk, Merlin Tucker, Rex Erdman, Troy Reigel and Michael DeVito.

In other action, the council authorized the hiring of council solicitor, J. Lawrence Davis, and members of the law committee, to investigate the possibility of annexing that portion of Washington Township which is in the area of the Farm Show building between Bangor and Pen Argyl.

Further action on this matter will be taken at the May meeting.

Upon the recommendation of the sewer committee and its chairman, Daniel Phillips, council approved the hiring of the Mast Engineering Co. of Reading to check all sewage connections in the borough. Fee for this work will be $1,500.

Elsewhere in the country, union members staged protests against the doctors' strike.

With the strike in its sixth day, the doctors charged that the nation's socialized medicine system would destroy the privacy of patients, particularly women.

They said they would not poison the traditional physician-patient relationship by allowing government inspectors to probe into the ailments of people and discover the treatments given in various cases.

Government sources disputed the doctors' claim saying great care would be taken to see that people's private lives remain private.

Lefevre presided at an emergency Cabinet meeting and then told newsmen his government would not negotiate with the striking doctors until they had returned to work.

To undertake talks in present circumstances, he explained, "would jeopardize the authority of Belgium's parliamentary system of government."

He said a doctor could be punished under the law for failing to answer an appeal for help from any person but did not elaborate on that theme.

Belgium has had a national health system, covering five million of its nine million inhabitants, since World War II. Only farmers, shopkeepers and other self-employed persons are outside the plan.

The doctors and dentists charge the new law forces them to operate under the system whether they want to or not, places them under tighter government control and tends to hamper free exercise of their professional skills.

High Court Turns Down Barnett's Jury Trial Bid

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. and former Gov. Ross R. Barnett of Mississippi lost their plea for a jury trial on criminal contempt of court charges.

The Supreme Court ruled against Johnson and Barnett, 5 to 4 Monday.

They are accused by the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, La., of willfully disobeying court orders barring them from interfering with the admission of James H. Meredith to the University of Mississippi at Oxford in 1962.

Barnett was governor at the time, and Johnson lieutenant governor. Johnson succeeded Barnett in the governor's office last Jan. 1.

Barring further legal maneuvering by Johnson and Barnett, the Circuit Court may now try Johnson and Barnett. They may ask the Supreme Court to reconsider their case. They have 25 days in which to do this.

No Comment

Neither man had any immediate comment on Monday's ruling or on their plans.

In other cases with racial overtones, the court:

—Struck down unanimously a breach of peace convictions of 85 Negro students arrested in 1960 in a racial demonstration in front of City Hall in Rock Hill, S. C. The court took the case on a brief unsigned order.

It said the Negroes assembled in a peaceful, orderly fashion in front of the City Hall to protest segregation.

The order added that no violence or threat of violence occurred, and traffic was not disturbed.

Murder Raps

—Struck down, again by a unanimous vote, the murder conviction of two North Carolina Negroes on the grounds that Negroes were systematically excluded from the grand jury that indicted them.

The Negroes, Jesse James Arnold and George Dixon, are under death sentence in the robbery-slaying of George T. McArthur in his small store near Kingston, N.C.

The court's majority in the Barnett-Johnson case stressed that only one issue was up for decision—whether Johnson and Barnett were constitutionally entitled to be tried by a jury, rather than by the Circuit Court.

Dad Balks At Vaccination, Sheriff Takes Kids Away

MENA, Ark. (AP)—Sheriff Bruce Scoggins took three children from a farm couple Monday after the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled that the couple could not deny the children an education on religious grounds.

Archie Cude, the farmer, told Scoggins that he would not take the children back if the state had them vaccinated against smallpox so they could attend school.

Cude said his religious convictions are against medical treatment and if the children were vaccinated, he would consider them unclean. Mrs. Cude said she agrees with her husband.

The children, Wayne, 12; Delia, 11, and Linda May, 8, sat quietly in the sheriff's office for most of the afternoon. Scoggins said he would take them to his home for the night.

Chancery Judge Wesley Howard, whose lower court ruling was upheld by the Supreme Court, said the children would be put under the care of the State Welfare Department pending further litigation.

Growing alarm manifested itself in government circles as the strike showed no sign of ending.

The doctors issued a statement saying Premier Theo Lefevre's left-leaning coalition government had badly underestimated the strength and determination of the physicians.

Lefevre presided at an emergency Cabinet meeting and then told newsmen his government would not negotiate with the striking doctors until they had returned to work.

To undertake talks in present circumstances, he explained, "would jeopardize the authority of Belgium's parliamentary system of government."

He said a doctor could be punished under the law for failing to answer an appeal for help from any person but did not elaborate on that theme.

Lodge Leads In GOP Race, Pollsters Say

NEW YORK (AP)—Pollster Louis Harris says a survey showed that Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, is now the favorite Republican candidate for the presidency.

The survey results, appearing in Newsweek magazine, reported that Lodge's position as favorite was found among voters in general and in the Republican rank and file.

A Gallup poll of Republican voters also indicated Lodge to be their first choice. George Gallup said Lodge now polls 42 per cent of the Republican votes, compared to 16 before his victory in the New Hampshire primary.

Harris' poll reported that Lodge holds a 41 per cent preference position and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon one of 28 per cent.

His poll also asserted that Lodge trails President Johnson by 52 to 33 per cent.

Nixon was next in line, according to the poll, trailing the President with a 61-32 per cent ratio.

In all cases there was a certain percentage of those polled who had no definite opinion.

Newsweek said the poll showed that President Johnson now would defeat Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton by 61-23 per cent, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater by 66-26 per cent, and New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller by 69-23 per cent.

Mt. Pocono Defers Action On Meters

MOUNT POCONO — Mt. Pocono Council last night deferred action on bids for parking meters until the meeting May 4.

The action was taken after a group of businessmen from the borough protested the installation of parking meters.

In other action, council approved making Church St. a one way street on Sundays only. It will be one-way for traffic traveling west and will become effective this Sunday.

Council also approved observing Daylight Saving Time this year. It will go into effect on April 26 and end October 25.

Kenneth Miller, police chief, reported one accident investigated, one call for assistance, 22 patrols, and three traffic arrests were made during March.

Expenses for the month were general government, $342.03; protection to persons and property, $276.83; garbage collection, $105.76; highways, $242.88; street lights, $177.20, and interest on a loan, $30.33.

Guns Roar, Flags Dip, General Mourned

NEW YORK (AP)—The deep-throated roar of distant guns paid homage Monday to the memory of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, echoing across two main scenes of his long life, the U.S. Military Academy and New York City, his last home.

At both places, 19-gun salutes were fired at noon.

Across the nation, on the high seas, and at all American installations around the world, flags were lowered to half-staff. They will remain so, by order of President Johnson, until after the funeral services for MacArthur in Norfolk, Va., next Saturday.

Sun-Tans

The body was clad in simple sun tans—the tropical uniform he wore in the Pacific War and during the summer in the Korean War.

Clusters of five stars, donating his rank, glittered from each shoulder. But none of his many decorations was attached to the shirt.

The casket, of cold rolled steel, is the standard Army issue. It rested on a catafalque draped in black.

Only members of the family and intimate friends were permitted in the funeral room to-day. One of the first to arrive was Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney. Whitney first knew MacArthur in the Philippines, then served with him in the Pacific and during the period when MacArthur was directing the postwar occupation of Japan.

Floral tributes began pouring in at the funeral parlor. They were sent to the 7th Regiment Armory on Park Avenue, in New York, where MacArthur's body will lie in repose Tuesday. From 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., the public will be permitted to pass the casket.

MacArthur held his first command, during World War I, in the 7th Regiment.

Many Tributes

More tributes were expressed to the man who served his country as a soldier for more than 60 years.

At West Point, Maj. Gen. James P. Lampert, superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy, told the Corps of Cadets at a noon formation:

"Gen. MacArthur's outstanding service, and his unending dedication to victory in war and preparedness during peace has exemplified to the nation and to the Army the highest ideals of duty, honor, and country."

Then, as a heavy silence fell over the Plain, a gun roared. It continued, at one-minute intervals, until 19 salutes had been fired.

Gun Salutes

At the same moment, at Ft. Jay on Governor's Island, another 19-gun salute was fired in MacArthur's memory. Ft. Jay is the headquarters for the U.S. 1st Army.

House Remembers

In Washington, the House of Representatives' moment before the opening of Monday's session.

The Rev. Dr. Bernard Braskamp, chaplain of the House, read out the words:

"To the memory of our greatly beloved patriot and hero, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, we offer, in praise, the words from Tennyson's 'Ode on the Death of the Duke of Wellington.'"

"Great in council and great in war, foremost captain of his time, rich in saving common sense, and as the greatest only are, in his simplicity sublime."

In this high-vaunted House chamber, in 1951, MacArthur had addressed a joint session of the House and the Senate. This was after President Harry S. Truman had stripped him of all his commands in the Far East and MacArthur had come home.

Truman had considered MacArthur insubordinate because of some of his actions in the Korean War, particularly after Communist China threw its armies into the conflict.

In his address to Congress, MacArthur said:

"Efforts have been made to distort my position. It has been said in effect, 'I was a war monger. Nothing could be further from the truth.'"

"I know war as few other men now living know it, and nothing to me is more revolting."

Nikita Lauds U.S., Blasts Red China

KAZINCBARCIKA, Hungary (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev declared Monday the U.S. government judges the world soberly while Red China sees possible good in a war that might wipe out half of mankind.

Discarding a prepared text, Khrushchev struck hard at Red China's leaders. By contrast, he noted the late President John F. Kennedy said that total war in a nuclear age "makes no sense," and added he thought President Johnson has views similar to his predecessor.

Chinese Approve War

"The Chinese leaders say it would not be a bad thing to have a war—one half of the people in the world would be destroyed and the other half survive," he told workers at a chemical plant in this northern industrial city.

"They say that after some time women again would bear children and mankind would be as before. People who think like that do not show an overabundance of brains but rather a lack of them."

"I say it is only a child or an idiot who does not fear war. If Hitler had known how World War II would end and that he would shoot himself, he probably would not have started the war."

Referring to Peking's accusation that Khrushchev shrinks from war, Khrushchev said: "Shall we start war with the capitalist countries? With what country shall we start first? With France, West Germany, Italy or Great Britain?"

"Do these countries consist only of capitalists and imperialists? No, there are peasants, workers and intellectuals. We were not asked by these people to interfere in their internal affairs."

Quotes Kennedy

The premier brought up Kennedy's speech, made last June to American University in Washington, in which the late president said the United States will never work "toward a strategy of annihilation but toward a strategy of peace." Khrushchev called the speech reasonable.

"The United States is an imperialist country but its government judges the world situation soberly. Some people have criticized me for praising this speech. I think that President Johnson has views similar to his predecessor," Khrushchev said.

Coexistence Hit

The Red Chinese assert that Soviet leaders shun violence and practice peaceful coexistence because their nation has grown relatively prosperous, that they are only concerned with a better life and the old revolutionary zeal is gone.

Khrushchev spent a great deal of his speech developing the thesis that he is using in the struggle for control of the minds in the world Communist movement: That the people should work harder to provide the comforts and goods that make for better living.

The premier asserted that communism has made substantial economic gains.

"But will you say that what you have got already is enough?" he asked.

"No. The housewife who goes to the shop wants to buy more. If she has one dress, she will want two. And if she is fashion-conscious, she will want more, and this is as it should be."

Scranton Retains Non-Candidate Pose

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican State Chairman Craig Truax said Monday he foresees no change in Gov. Scranton's non-candidate position on the GOP Presidential nomination.

"It would be difficult for him to change and I don't think he will because he was sincere in what he said about the nomination," Truax added.

Scranton says he is not a candidate for personal reasons, but that he would accept a "sincere and honest" draft.

Working within that framework, Truax and a number of top Pennsylvania and out-of-state Republicans are trying hard to stimulate a draft without any assistance or encouragement from Scranton himself.

Commenting on several weekend developments, Truax said he would not be deterred by a statement from a close Scranton aide that the Governor will not give encouragement of any kind at any time.

Truax also indicated he was not much concerned by the expressions of some top Republican leaders that Scranton must move soon or forget the nomination.

DA'S Records Stolen

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Records in the forgery and fraud case against Sheriff Charles E. Green were taken from the Lycoming County district attorney's office this past weekend.

However, Dist. Atty. Henry C. Hager, who found his office ransacked Monday morning said, "not enough was taken to destroy the case against Green."

Hager said he planned to present the case against the 49-year-old sheriff to the grand jury during the week of April 20.

The district attorney added that first indications were that nothing except the Green file had been removed.

Green was arrested Feb. 14 charged with 20 counts of forgery and 12 of fraud. The case involved county funds totaling $1,994 in the operation of the sheriff's office.

Port Facility Expansion Urged

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The Bucks County Planning Commission, noting that there are no general cargo facilities on the Delaware River above Philadelphia, said port facilities should be expanded.

The commission said the river is being dredged along the river as far north as Trenton, N. J., and said facilities should be expanded to serve existing and future commercial and industrial needs.

Rockwell Jobs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Willard F. Rockwell said recently proposed plan of Rockwell-Standard Corp. to change its state of incorporation from Pennsylvania to Delaware will not affect Rockwell - Standard employment in Pennsylvania.

"It's simply a paper change," said the chief executive officer of the firm. "We'll rent office space just so we will have our name on the door."

Clark Says Blatt Win Hits Bosses

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said Monday nomination of Genevieve Blatt for U.S. senator would help remove "the cancer of big city bosses" from the state Democratic party.

"We've had enough of sleazy politicians in the Democratic party," said Clark, who appeared with Miss Blatt at a luncheon meeting of some 50 of her supporters.

Clark and Miss Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, both called on her main opponent in the April 28 primary, Justice Michael Musmanno, to resign from the state Supreme Court.

Clark said Musmanno had violated legal ethics by continuing on the bench. He questioned the judge's thoroughness and that of a Democratic fact sheet put out by the Philadelphia Democratic organization.

The state organization is backing Musmanno, Miss Blatt and Prothonotary David B. Roberts of Allegheny County are running independently.

Clark is the only one of the state party's higher echelon to support Miss Blatt.

He described Musmanno's endorsement by the state Democratic policy committee, of which Clark is a member, as "the result of the cancer of big city bosses in smoke-filled rooms."

He called on Musmanno to answer a number of questions, among them "when and where he was born and at what age and under what name he served in the armed forces in World War I."

Miss Blatt, referring to a speech Musmanno made over the weekend to Duquesne University law students, said he had demonstrated unfitness for the nomination.

"For a justice of the Supreme Court to have chosen that inopportune moment to openly flaunt every ethic the law school is trying to instill in its future attorneys is appalling."

She said Musmanno had made a "travesty of the legal profession's cherished principles" by not resigning.

Scott Attacks Bigotry, Hatred

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., urged Monday a "three-pronged attack on bigotry and hatred," with emphasis on passage this year of "fully effective civil right legislation."

Musmanno Steps Up Campaign

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Justice Michael A. Musmanno of Pennsylvania's Supreme Court said Monday he will increase campaign speechmaking in his quest for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator at the April 28 primary.

Musmanno, endorsed by the Democratic State Committee, said he originally intended not to make any speeches until after the primary.

"I thought that my record of 40 years of public service would speak for itself," Musmanno said after meeting privately with Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia who has endorsed him.

Musmanno is opposed by Genevieve Blatt, internal affairs secretary, and David Roberts, Allegheny County prothonotary.

The justice told a news conference, held jointly with Tate, that the mayor suggested he increase his campaigning.

"The mayor was good enough to point out that campaigning is a bit different now than it was years ago and that you really have to get the people," Musmanno said, adding:

"The people are entitled to know who this person is who will be on the general election ballot in November."

Musmanno seeks the seat now held by Republican Hugh Scott. Scott is seeking renomination at the primary.

Musmanno reiterated that he won't resign from the bench until after the primary, noting he has said he will quit his post on the state's highest tribunal "as soon as all pending work can be disposed of."

"You can't leave a bench like one locks up a store at night," he said.

Musmanno said he won't discuss personalities in his primary campaign speeches, just his qualifications.

He said he can bring to the Senate "an experience that will be helpful."

"We are now on the dividing line between nuclear destruction or peace with the use of science to bring happiness to all the people of the world," he said.

Clark and Miss Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, both called on her main opponent in the April 28 primary, Justice Michael Musmanno, to resign from the state Supreme Court.

She said Musmanno had made a "travesty of the legal profession's cherished principles" by not resigning.

"Ours is not a time for dreaming of yesterday's Utopia. Ours is a time of change and challenge, of building bridges which people can use to cross the traditional boundaries of prejudice."

In addition to civil right legislation, Scott urged these two further actions: revision of the nation's immigration laws "so that an individual's fitness to be an American is not judged on the basis of the national origin" and ratification, by this country, of the international genocide convention, condemning mass murder.

Scott referred to civil rights legislation as "America's second Bill of Rights" but he warned that "those who are against a progress—including the passage of time itself—are fighting very hard against us."

And he added "Let not the future generations say of us... they looked to the past, and lost the future."

Chemist Hits Theory Of Oil's Birth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Was the world's oil formed by decayed animals and plants or created by nature through an underground chemical reaction?

Dr. Paul C. Marux of El Segundo, Calif., told an opening session of the American Chemical Society Convention Monday he believes a natural chemical factory, seven to nine miles down in the earth's crust, made the oil.

He challenged the theory that petroleum was formed by pressure and the rotting of plants and animals millions of years old.

He said nature generates its own electricity underground and that it combines water, graphite (a form of carbon), iron and sulphur, making them work like a vast chemical battery.

Marux, explaining his theory, said electricity would flow through the carbon and break down water into oxygen and hydrogen. The released hydrogen would join with the carbon to form hydrocarbon compounds which are the main components of petroleum.

Bangor's Jones Pushes For Programs For Aged, Youth

By JIM SHAFER
Another In A Series
BANGOR — "I'd like to see Bangor as it was when I came here from Wales in 1929. Why a man could go from one job to another with no waiting in between," Councilman Albert Jones said last night.

This is the way Jones expressed himself when asked if he favored the move to bring industry into the borough.

He continued, "I feel we have a good council, one that will work hard to get industry into the area. I also feel that council has a very good president.

He is forceful and the kind of man to get things done."

Jones favors the road reconstruction program in the borough. He said, "The roads in the borough are not in the best of condition, but then we have just had a new sewer and storm system installed. The two projects cost a great deal of money so now the roads will have to be put into condition as the money is available.

Jones was the first councilman to mention a program for the aged. "I feel that council should try to do something for the aged in the community."

"Perhaps they could be housed in a small building, where they could receive medical treatment as needed, supervision and have social activities."

"This could be paid for with their social security pension. However, this is just a thought to work on what I have said is not a completely polished idea as yet. In fact it has never been mentioned to council by me."

"I also favor better facilities for our youth. Something with a good program and good supervision. I believe council will look into this in the near future and take a step in this direction," he concluded.

Strikers Set Up Picket Lines

LESTER, Pa. (AP) — Striking production workers at the Westinghouse Electric Co. in this Delaware County town outside Philadelphia set up picket lines today and kept salaried employees outside the sprawling plant.

More than 1,000 persons milled about the main gate causing a traffic tie-up on the industrial highway.

About 1,000 clerical workers couldn't get through the picket lines.

A brief scuffle at 7 a. m. resulted in the arrest of one picket who was fined $9 and costs.

County Asked To Appoint Health, Welfare Group

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners yesterday were asked to appoint a county health and welfare planning commission.

The request was made by James Gould and Shirley Cummings of the Monroe County Mental Health Assn.

The commission would be a correlating body which would mesh all health and welfare agencies toward better mental health.

Gould said "we feel that the Mental Health Assn. alone is not adequate to give the county a comprehensive mental health plan."

He then asked the commissioners—Stuart Pipher and acting chairman John Price (Commissioner Stanley Price is ill)—to set up a planning group. Gould said the new organization would not intrude upon the operation of any specific agency, but would give a direction to the agencies, so that they would work together.

He said that "the goals of the plan are to get all county agencies involved in the program. The plan would involve all aspects of life which would affect emotional stability.

"Until we have an authorized, bonded group, we are not eligible for state aid on this project," Gould said.

"The Child Welfare Act is the first step of the state toward making an over-all plan. If we act now, we can have what we want instead of what's given to us."

Gould said that many health and welfare agencies—such as the cancer society, children's aid, public assistance—are interrelated in that the emotional health of a family unit is affected by the sickness of one person.

Commissioner Pipher asked how many county agencies would come under the plan.

"That's a good question," Gould said, "we still have to determine the exact number of groups and agencies and try to decide who will be on the board."

Solicitor Russell Mervine said, "The functions of the various welfare agencies are so interrelated that few people know the exact limitations of the agencies."

The group then discussed the plan as a method of eliminating duplication of effort and aiding specific mental health needs.

The commissioners were given a mental health survey prepared by the Mental Health Assn. during 1937-1938.

For the survey, questionnaires were sent to those in direct contact with the public, in positions to counsel, advise, teach, and observe people.

The results of the survey also showed the following basic needs for a comprehensive mental health program. They are distilled from answers by clergy, doctors, teachers, employers, lawyers, and others.

Recommendations

The recommendations include a family service agency, a social case worker to be employed by the hospital, emergency facilities and the general hospital for mental patients, detention rooms for juvenile offenders, expansion of the county home, volunteer services, education programs for all professions, special education in the schools, and an adequate after-care program.

Gould said that since the survey was conducted, juvenile detention rooms and expansion of the county home have been provided for, but that other needed programs could be instituted under the comprehensive plan.

The commissioners said they would give the request full consideration.

Pocono Pines Man Fined For Falsifying Sticker

STROUDSBURG — A Pocono Pines man pleaded guilty to driving a car with a phony license plate and was fined $250 and ordered to pay the cost of prosecution yesterday in Monroe County Court.

Elwood Murrow told the court he altered his 1962 license sticker to make it appear as a valid 1963 sticker. He was arrested by state trooper Alfred P. Drozdowski on Rt. 80, Dec. 19, 1963.

Murrow's case was one of four commonwealth cases presented by James R. Marsh, Monroe County district attorney, before President Judge Fred W. Davis. All four cases involved guilty pleas.

Joyce Rehving of Sciotin, was placed on probation for accepting $1,754 in State Department of Public Assistance funds while her husband was gainfully employed.

Judge Davis conditioned the sentence by ordering Mrs. Rehving to pay weekly payments of $15 toward the cost of prosecution and repaying the money she accepted illegal from the DPA. The weekly payments will begin April 18.

August Jerome Fennemore, of Bartonsville, was ordered to pay a fine of $100 plus costs for operating a car without a license. Judge Davis accepted $80 toward the total cost and ordered Fennemore to pay the balance in $20 weekly installments.

A Blainstown, N. J. man was fined $100 and costs for operating a car while his driver's license was suspended.

David Courtman was also placed on probation for one year while he is paying the fine and costs at the rate of $15 a week.

Court will resume today at 10 a.m.

Tax Question On Land Condemned

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Commissioners were asked yesterday how tax exoneration for condemned land is scheduled.

The question was asked by Atty. James Scanlon, who represents the title company which closes land deals for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The state is currently investigating lands near East Stroudsburg State College for college expansion.

Property owners around the college should not be made to pay taxes after the date of condemnation by the state, solicitor Russell Mervine said.

Discussed was the question of exoneration being made on a six-month basis, where taxes would not be required within a six-month period preceding the date of condemnation.

Solicitor Mervine said he would check legal aspects of the taxing schedule.

D. Katz and Sons was officially awarded a contract for $2,188 for a water pump at the Civil Defense emergency well in the courthouse basement.

Attorney Leo Achterman and Chief Assessor C. A. Nauman discussed upcoming tax appeals from local camps.

Herbert Meixell, James Fritz, and Warren Altomose of the Ross Twp. board of supervisors asked the commissioners to give them a figure on 1964's road tax allocation.

The commissioners said that they could expect about the same amount as last year—between $2,900 and $3,000—from the liquid fuel fund for road work. The board also noted that Ross Twp. assessment had gone up this year, which would give increased revenue without a tax hike.

Marvin and Abel and Mrs. Katherine Miller of Civil Defense opened requests from Smithfield Twp. and Pocono Twp. for the purchase of a generator which CD is selling for $134.23.

Pocono Twp. will be sold the generator. The equipment will be used at the fire company for auxiliary communications.

The board noted that letters explaining that the generator was up for sale were sent to every political subdivision in the county.

Charles Shimer, courthouse custodian, told the board that the courthouse needs new spouting all over.

The board decided to hire John Lesoine—who owns a Pennsylvania Utilities Commission license—to haul voting machines to polling places during the April primary, depending on an expense estimate to be submitted by Lesoine.

The commission also said that all persons who have not applied for a change in their registration on surplus food should do so before May 1.

H. Ray Saunders, administrator, will take applications for surplus food eligibility during the last week in April and the first week of May. Registrations should be applied for at that time.

East Bangor Postal Survey Under Way

EAST BANGOR — Mrs. Hazel Houseberger, postmaster in East Bangor, yesterday placed more than 300 questionnaires in post office boxes in the East Bangor Post Office.

Mrs. Houseberger said, "The form contains two questions for the boxholder to answer. After the questions have been answered, each recipient is requested to mail the form to post office officers at Allentown."

"The first question notes, 'Do you favor a new post office building in East Bangor?' The second question asks, 'If the patron favors carrier service from the Bangor Post Office?' she concluded.

The survey being conducted is the result of a public meeting last Thursday in the East Bangor Firehouse arranged by Congressman Fred B. Rooney.

Rooney set up the meeting after two petitions from residents of the borough were sent to him. The first asked for door-to-door delivery and not a new post office building. The second sought new post office building, with or without door-to-door delivery in the borough.

Accompanying Rooney to the meeting was Robert J. Brown, postal service officer from Philadelphia Regional Office.

Brown told the meeting that East Bangor does not qualify for a new post office building and door-to-door delivery due to postal regulations.

"The regulations stipulate that a community must have more than 2,500 persons—East Bangor has less than 1,000 residents—and that the post office must do a net business of more than $10,000. East Bangor Post Office did a net business last year of slightly more than $6,000."

Brown added that in several instances the Postal Department has lowered the population requirement to 1,300 residents.

Brown told the meeting that the Post Office Department could annex the East Bangor with a close independent post office (Bangor) and put a substation in East Bangor. With a substation in East Bangor the borough would not lose its identity, patrons could purchase stamps, mail packages, and have door-to-door delivery once daily, he said.

He said the postal department would conduct another survey to determine what the residents of the borough wanted and then the department would take action on their desires.

Barrett Twp. Master Plan Predicts Further Growth

(This is the third of a series of articles on the Barrett Township Planning Commission, its master plan and subdivision ordinance.)

By Jim Ottaway Jr.
Daily Record Editor

MOUNTAINHOME — When the Barrett Planning Commission started its study population growth in its township, it discovered more people over 45 and fewer under 25 than in the county, state, or nation, and fewer people in each household than in the county, state or nation.

Its population of 2,395 in 1960 is expected to hit 3,000 by 1970 and will need more than twice the 750 year-round houses counted in 1960.

And the master plan drawn up from these and other studies predicts further rapid growth in the township and Monroe County.

Citing Interstate Rt. 80 through Monroe County near Barrett Township and construction of Toek's Island Dam with annual expenditures of $10 million a year during construction, the Barrett master plan states:

"Major developments such as these, combined with the many existing characteristics which make the Monroe County area desirable for residential and commercial location, all indicate future economic growth at a rate not known in the past."

Resort Economy

"Today Barrett Township is the heart of the Pocono Vacationland," the master plan states. And its economic indicators prove a heavy reliance on the resorts of Barrett Township for work and income.

Employment statistics show that about half of the employed workers in Barrett Township are in resort trades.

The labor force estimated at 1,116 civilians had 1,041 working and 75 unemployed in 1960 with 508 working in resort trades.

The master plan estimates $42 million in tourist and vacation spending in Monroe County in 1960 with 700,000 spending some kind of vacation in the Poconos during 1961 — more than twice as many as visited Hawaii.

Using out-of-date figures, the master plan estimates that 91 manufacturing firms in Monroe County in 1957 produced goods valued at more than 40 million dollars and paid out almost $14 million to workers in payrolls.

Wholesale and retail trades in the county employing over 2,000 people sold about $65 million of goods in 1958. This category employs the second largest number of Barrett residents — 147 in 1960, followed by construction — 126, and manufacturing — 96.

Even in the "heart of the Pocono Vacationland," industries in Barrett Township are a major employer. Listed in the master plan are Weiler Brush Co., J. A. Reinhardt Co., Pocono Press, Spangenberg & Son, Kreckman Co., and Business Supplies Corporation of America.

Housing Conditions

The professional planning consultants hired by Barrett Planning Commission surveyed houses in the township and found only 11 dilapidated houses not providing safe and adequate shelter.

Bellante and Clauss, Scranton consultants, 1,518 houses in the township. Six had no hot water, 29 no toilet, bath or running water, and the rest had all plumbing facilities.

The only concentration of substandard housing reported by the consultants was at the end of Hardytown Road, along Erie-Lackawanna Railroad tracks in Cresco.

Seven of ten houses in this area were considered substandard.

Housing 'Explosion'

The startling discovery in the field of housing was a small "explosion" of house building between 1950 and 1960 — a 55 per cent increase from 986 in 1950 to 1,533 in 1960.

Only 175 of the 547 new houses were year-round. The other 372 were vacation-seasonal units.

This trend, spotted by the planning commission, showed "rapid growth and development of the township, especially as a resort community."

The master plan points out that all these new houses, still going up, require new services and facilities — streets, maintenance, fire protection, garbage removal, etc.

"Such rapid growth also indicates a need for zoning and subdivision regulation to ensure a high quality of housing development which will be an asset rather than a liability to the township," the master plan states.

township," the master plan states.

Expensive Houses

Barrett Township housing was found to be among the most expensive in the state because of the many vacation homes, primarily.

More than two-thirds of owner-occupied houses were valued at $10,000 or more. Only three per cent were valued at $5,000 or less. More than one-third were valued at $15,000 or more. The median value was $12,879.

How wise investors choose stocks & bonds

You may find, when you finish reading these examples of wise and unwise investing, that you're one of the wise. Or maybe not. Let's see:

Unwise: You race to buy at the drop of a tip.
Wise: You look behind the tip for facts—and often find only rumor. For you, facts are what count. You've heard that many an investor has found trouble because he accepted a rumor at face value.

Unwise: You let your hopes run away with your judgment.
Wise: You have in mind, perhaps, building a second income from dividends. Or giving your money a chance to grow with American business. But you know that stocks, like other property, can tumble in price as well as climb. That some companies may make no profit, pay no dividends. So with your broker's help you check a company's earnings and dividends and try to decide what its prospects are. And you consider bonds for your particular situation.

Unwise: You invest all the cash you can scrape together.
Wise: You make certain you can pay your living expenses regularly. That emergencies are provided for. Because you know that funds for investing should not be drawn from money required for necessities. You may, in fact, be using the Monthly Investment Plan to acquire stock by investing with as little as $40 every three months ($3.08 a week).

Unwise: You don't bother to seek knowledgeable advice.
Wise: You proceed with care. You know, for example, that a broker in a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange is required to meet Exchange requirements when he becomes a Registered Representative. And that, while Member Firms differ in many ways, they are all subject to the guiding rules of the Exchange. Their judgment is not infallible, of course—no one's is. But they can give you important help as you make your decisions with your goals in mind.

Unwise: You feel you can't benefit from reading booklets like "INVESTMENT FACTS."
Wise: You will read with pleasure this useful booklet which gives the records of more than 400 common stocks that have paid a cash dividend every three months for 20 years or more. Plus much additional helpful information. Wouldn't you be wise to send for your free copy now?

MacArthur In Japan

It is ironic that the late General Douglas MacArthur made his fame and his glory as military conqueror of Japan in World War II while history will probably call his greatest contribution the peaceful establishment of democratic government in post-war Japan.

MacArthur himself looked at his rule over occupied Japan that way. He was more proud of his triumphs in peace than his victories in war.

Two of his comments reveal that feeling:

"If the historian of the future should deem my service worthy of some slight reference, it would be my hope that he mention me not as a commander engaged in campaigns and battles, even though victorious to American arms, but rather as that one whose sacred duty it became, once the guns were silenced, to carry to the land of our vanquished foe the solace and hope and faith of Christian morals."

At another time, MacArthur said:

"The pages of history in recording America's 20th century contributions may pass over lightly the wars we have fought. But I believe they will not fail to record the influence for good upon Asia which will inevitably follow the spiritual regeneration of Japan."

MacArthur himself, by his leadership of the American occupation of Japan, caused a regeneration, a new birth of the best characteristics of the Japanese people.

The general who ruled a fearful, hated and ruined enemy, brought from the ashes of the atomic bomb one of the strongest and most powerful free nations of the world today.

MacArthur did this by gaining the respect of the Japanese, by teaching them the basic ideals of democracy and by writing them a new constitution which still influences Japanese institutions, policies and ways of life.

It was not an arrogant boast for MacArthur to claim that this was perhaps his greatest contribution to Asia, America and the history of freedom.

MacArthur's Insubordination

One of the most unpopular things a President of the United States ever did was to fire General Douglas MacArthur.

Former President Harry Truman did it in April, 1951, when he claimed that General MacArthur was not following his orders and insisted that the President, as Commander in Chief, must be obeyed.

General MacArthur was certain the Communist Chinese would not cross the Yalu River into North Korea and told President Truman that. And when they did, he wanted to attack Chinese bases and supply lines, arguing that "there is no substitute for victory."

President Truman disagreed and fired the General. In a message accompanying his order, President Truman said:

"Full and vigorous debate on matters of national policy is a vital element in the constitutional system of our free democracy.

"It is fundamental however that military commanders must be governed by the policies and directives issued to them in the manner prescribed by our laws and Constitution. In time of crisis, this consideration is particularly compelling."

The Commander in Chief had spoken. But he suffered from that strong stand for the basic American principle of civilian rule over the military.

MacArthur, whose goal was victory when it was denied, became an even greater national hero.

The general may have been right. The President may have been wrong.

But in his devotion to "duty," honor, country," MacArthur, the proud and confident military leader, made his greatest mistake—he did not obey his Commander in Chief.

Comment Of The Day

"The entire nation will stand in sad salute to one of the outstanding leaders of American history.

"He earned the admiration and respect of his fellow citizens and the personal devotion of those he led in battle.

"As one of those privileged to serve for some years under his direct supervision, I share with all his friends a feeling of special loss and sorrow."

—Dwight D. Eisenhower, former President of the United States and former general of the U. S. Army.

Quick Rundown

WASHINGTON — Most persons who attend White House press briefings crowd as close up front as they can. But there's a little guy with a big cigar who stays as far back as he can.

This jockey-sized figure is always the last in, and the first out. The split-second news conference ends he makes a break, like a quarter horse out of an electric gate. He gallops, at the top of his short legs, to President Johnson's sanctum.

This behavior pattern of Jack J. Valenti has rendered White House correspondents increasingly uneasy. Heaven only knows what it has done, and is doing to the Presidential press secretary the short shadow cases. One secretary withstood it a few months, then dashed from the White House in such a state he ran for Senator from California.

This escapee from surreptitious monitoring, a lissome fellow with the unlikely moniker of Pierre Salinger, was replaced with a mountainous man named George Reedy. Thus far Mr. Reedy has not cracked under the strain; consequently no White House correspondent can yet complain with justification that he is leaning on a broken Reedy. Jack J. Valenti has few confidantes in this world, outside of President Johnson and possibly his wife, Mary Margaret, who was Mr. Johnson's secretary. Nonetheless he has confided to at least one person why he cases Reedy's briefings, and also what spurs him to better all track records for the quarter furlong to the President's office.

"The President," he confided, "wants it on the double."

This was not as cryptic as it may sound. Mr. Valenti had no need to explain to any of the White House cognoscenti what he meant.

He meant that President Johnson wants it hot off the giddle before it can cool off. LBJ wants to know at once all the nuances of a press briefing that won't show up in the official transcript — the tones in which questions are asked and answered; how the press secretary stands up under an unanticipated barrage; exchanges between the Press Secretary and the press that may be off the record.

LBJ wants to know if any questioner appears querulous, or over-persistent; if any interrogator gave the impression of having more in his mind than his broken questions indicated.

We've come to the inescapable conclusion that it is a new game of tit-for-tat. We've always wanted to know what the President is thinking. Now, for the first time, a President wants to know what we're thinking.

This has gone to many of our heads (some correspondents have multiple heads) and threatens to make these multiple heads grow bigger. Hitherto, no President ever seemed bursting with anxiety to know our outer thoughts, much less our inner.

But it's all the way with LBJ. He even wants Valenti to give him a fast estimate of how we feel about him.

This undercover, or rather undergar, agent at our press briefings holds the title of "Special Consultant to the President." The title is an apt one. The President consults Valenti on almost every subject, and the Special Consultant is almost always there to be consulted.

This may give you an idea: There is a club of V.I.P.s here, the Alfalfa Club, so named because the alfalfa will go so far for a drink.

President Johnson attended his latest meeting, and after everything was over, invited a couple of club members back to the White House with him.

It was crowding I am, when they arrived. They didn't want to wake up any servants to obtain refreshments.

The 42-year-old, 820,000-a-year Valenti was still there — as if he had been waiting just to serve them.

Goddard Plus Project 70

(Editor's Note: Robert L. Clark, managing editor of The Daily Record heard national and state officials and experts in the resort industry explore "The Billion Dollar Explosion in Tourism, Recreation and Parks" at a seminar in Harrisburg, Pa., one of 33 editors and publishers at the seminar, gives his views on the sessions.)

First In A Series
Despite Miss Genevieve Blatt's swipe at the Scranton Administration for letting the Philadelphia Orchestra escape the Keystone State to a summer home in New York, Pennsylvania is pushing hard to make the tourist industry the biggest dollar-maker in the state's economy.

Pennsylvania is not on the ground floor trying to go up. State officials, in conjunction with national aides, are working hand in hand to blend the Highways, Forests and Waters, Commerce and Labor Departments into a machine that will put the 87-county area as "the state" to visit, work and live.

Secretary of the Forests and Waters Department, Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, a man who doesn't play politics, is one of Gov. Scranton's key ambassadors in "The Billion Dollar Explosion in Tourism, Recreation and Parks."

Goddard, who started out in the woods when Gov. Gifford Pinchot was holding the chair in Harrisburg, is pushing for quick action on Project 70.

But the man who became head of the Forests and Waters Dept. in 1955 under Gov. George Lender and continued as boss under Gov. David Lawrence, wants the local gentry to get on the ball, so to speak.

Goddard, a dedicated man in what appears to be a unified effort in state circles declared, "More money is not the panacea to the recreation problems springing up in the commonwealth.

"It's a case of the land being in the right place at the right time," he emphasized.

Goddard urged 35 editors and publishers to push for quick legislation on Project 70. He feels it too much time is lost land eyed by "70" will disappear under the sprawl of cities which have grown too small to provide both housing and adequate recreation space.

Project 70 is a $70 million sortie that will be split up in the following ways: $40 million to Forests and Waters for both recreation site acquisitions and historic site purchases; $20 million for matching funds for political subdivisions to acquire their own park and recreation land; and $10 million to be divided equally between the Fish and Game Commissions.

The career woodsman who has been criticized and chastised for his frank, but not yet proved wrong, practically demands that the state cut stand still if it wants to compete with the rest of the nation.

He noted, "We have dragged our feet long enough." He cited such states as California, Arizona and Florida which continue to provide "livability" for their people and industries that employ them.

He implored, "If these are the essentials that attract industry and adequate, well-trained labor, then we must supply these ingredients."

Dr. Goddard is far from a pessimist. He believes greater successes are in store for Pennsylvania, stemming from the 1958 Eisenhower Study on Outdoor Recreation. Goddard feels there is no place for the Keystone State to go but up.

Goddard is definitely concerned with the individual, especially the juvenile. "We must take care of him," he said, pointing to the facilities that would take up the leisure time of the juvenile.

However, it is Project 70 that "is the answer" to all of the recreation and park problems on the state and local level.

Dr. Goddard noted that the western part of the United States has been getting all the gravy from federal efforts.

While no action has been officially taken on Tocks Island, the 37-mile reservoir planned for the Pocono Mountains, Goddard maintains that this will be the second gigantic step toward battling the west for federal assistance.

The first was the Presque Isle creation on Lake Erie, whereby the federal government poured in funds to create beaches, boat marinas and a general recreation site in Erie's territory.

"People are showing interest along with the state and national officials," he said. He listed the Pike County Western Heritage Ltd. investment of buying the famed Brewster "millions" estate.

"They can't miss," Dr. Goddard said concerning the business venture.

"It is close enough to Tocks but far enough away to be of tremendous benefit to those who share in its value."

Dr. Goddard cited statistics in the attendance at state parks and recreation areas. "In 1953 more than 24,000,000 visitors took advantage of the facilities. There were 8,000,000 visitors in 1955."

The Secretary of Forests and Waters can't wait for Project 70 to pass the legislative bodies. Then, he optimistically projects, the billion dollar explosion figure will be a conservative figure in years to come.

The Pennsylvania Story

'Legislative Locusts'

By Mason Denison
HARRISBURG — The year 1964 unquestionably will go down as the year of the "great swarm of legislative locusts" insofar as Pennsylvania is concerned!

This is not to say that Pennsylvania or more specifically, Capitol Hill is destined to be swarmed under by a plague of bugs; at least not entomologically speaking.

Fuss-budgetary entomologists of the State Department of Agriculture insist with considerable zip that there just isn't any such thing as a "legislative locust" at least not in their insect world with which we are inclined to agree.

But going outside their bug-ridden arena into the more realistic realm of lay language there does indeed "seem" to be a great swarm of "legislative locusts" on the invasion trail for the Keystone State this year of 1964.

Here's the way the "invasion" shapes up:

In the State House of Representatives this year there are 269 seats (all of 'em) up for filling. (There used to be 210 seats, but one got waylaid in the redistricting scramble last year.)

Any idea how many candidates there are seeking these (once somewhat lowly) 269 legislative seats in the upcoming April 28 primary?

There are 689 aspirants for these $9,000-a-year posts—and that in any calculator is quite a swarm of "legislative locusts!"

Curiously perhaps, the "aspirant fever" runs almost the gamut.

For example in one legislative district (First District, Washington County) where only two members ultimately will be elected, there are 21 candidates after the two seats — five Republican hopefuls and 16 Democrats! (One of the two seats currently is held by Democratic incumbent J. Dean Polen.)

The Washington district represents an extreme in the scramble of legislative locusts for House seats this year.

At the other end of the gas pipe is this touch of the paradox:

In four House districts there is absolutely no opposition whatsoever in either the upcoming primary or the fall general election, to the one candidate seeking the seat!

The four House seats without any primary or general election opposition (all held by Republican incumbents incidentally) are the county-wide seats (one seat per county) in Warren County, Pike County and Montour County, plus the two-seat Lebanon County district.

Next to the top ranking First Washington District (that is, insofar as the number of candidates is concerned) is the Second District of Cambria, which has 19 candidates for the two seats allotted to the district (four Republican hopefuls and 15 Democrats).

On the other hand there are 41 districts (of the 269) where in the November run-off between Republican and Democrat is already set.

The Allen-Scott Report

Intensified Probe

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — The special Warren Commission's probe of the assassination of President Kennedy is becoming so intense that its staff is literally using a finetooth comb to go over the most minute details of persons involved in this tragic event.

Most intriguing line of the commission's new inquiry concerns why the suspected assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, lost more than half his hair during the two and one-half years he lived in the Soviet Union.

The unusual and unexplained change in Oswald's features was pointed out by his brother Robert when testifying in pulver before the Warren Commission at the request of Chief Justice Earl Warren, Chairman.

Oswald's brother, who impressed commission members as an intelligent and logical person, reported that the tremendous loss of Lee's hair was the most noticeable change observed after the "defector" returned from Russia in 1962.

He told the commission that his brother's balding greatly puzzled him since members of the Oswald family were noted for keeping their hair during their life span.

To add to the unique mystery, Robert Oswald stressed that his brother, Lee, and Lee's wife, Marina, were reluctant to discuss the missing hair when questioned, so he didn't press the matter.

Intrigued by this personal observation, the commission's staff is now consulting with government and private experts to determine if the loss of hair could have been caused by the use of new drugs, or by Oswald's being given the Pavlovian treatment, which the Russians have mastered so well.

It is common knowledge within the U.S. intelligence community that the Soviets have conducted experiments in the use of both methods to control the minds of humans since the late '50s.

In light of this undisclosed information, the commission plans to dig deeper into Mrs. Oswald's background and employment as a pharmacist in Russia, since this training would qualify her to handle all types of drugs.

The Passport Mystery — J. Lee Rankin, the commission's chief counsel, has sent the State Department three full pages of questions concerning the handling of passports and visas to the suspected assassin and his widow.

In tossing this bombshell to Administrator Abba P. Schwartz, of the Bureau of Security and Consular Affairs, Rankin demanded a full explanation of how Oswald was able to obtain passports almost at will despite the existence of a State Department file showing his Marxist background, defection to Russia, and connections with the pro-Castro Fair Play for Cuba Committee.

Schwartz, who gets a bad case of nerves whenever questioned about the Oswald case, already had bucked the commission's time-bomb to his arch-enemy in the department, Mrs. Frances Knight, director of the Passport Office.

Rankin, who knows of this maneuver, believes that a more thorough reading of the questionnaire by Schwartz should convince the State Department official that only he personally is in a position to answer a number of the inquiries.

After the questionnaire is returned, the answers will be compared with some very sensitive information about the Oswald passports and activities now in the possession of the Warren commission.

The results of this inquiry could be highly explosive, according to commission staff members examining Oswald's contacts with the State Department and with Russian intelligence officials in Moscow.

New Turncoat — Mrs. Melinda Maclean, American-born wife of British diplomat traitor Donald Maclean, has joined the Soviet espionage service.

Montgomery Hyde, former member of the British Parliament, has reported to British and U.S. intelligence that Mrs. Maclean is now one of the most highly regarded experts at Moscow's top training school of women spies.

According to Maclean's sources behind the Iron Curtain, she helps to groom agents hand-picked to operate in the U. S., Britain, Canada and Australia.

Hyde, a recognized authority on world espionage, says that the Russians have five schools for training spies and assassins within the Soviet Union.

Mrs. Maclean fled to Russia 10 years ago after her husband and his foreign office colleague, the late Guy Burgess, slipped out of Great Britain after being identified as Soviet agents.

Dear Abby

Perennial Globe-Trotter

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband announced last November that he needed a rest, so he went to New York to visit his sister. After being gone two months, he sent me a post card from Paris saying he got the "urge" to go abroad. I have been getting his post cards from all over Europe with no word of how to contact him. What if I, or one of the children, should become seriously ill, or die? Our children are away at boarding school, thank heavens, so they are spared the humiliation. I feel like a fool when people ask me where my husband is. He obviously cares nothing for me or he never could have done such a thing. I am well provided for, but money isn't everything. We've been married 19 years and I am seriously considering asking my lawyer to file for a divorce. What would you do in my place?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: I'd get in touch with my lawyer immediately and attempt to locate my globe-trotting husband. He could be sick — or just sick of you. In any case, it's time he got home. Do nothing about a divorce at this distance.

HIGHLAND PARK

DEAR HIGHLAND: Tell the boy that your parents want you to see more of more boys and less of just one. Tight pants won't be the vogue forever.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVED AND LOST": The phrase, "It's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all" is not always true. Many would have chosen never to have loved at all if only they could get back what they lost.

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Dizziness is one of the most frequent complaints brought to the attention of doctors. Unfortunately, dizziness is often haphazardly used to describe headaches, faintness, disturbances of vision and even tenderness of the scalp.

Dizziness actually means a sensation of movement of the body in relationship to its surroundings. Sometimes the feeling of dizziness or "vertigo" may give patients the impression that they are standing still and that objects are rotating around them. At other times, they may feel that objects are standing still and their bodies are whirling in circles.

Very Distressing

Although these sensations are very distressing, in most instances they do not represent illnesses of sufficient severity to warrant the fears they induce.

All dizziness, however, must be investigated for its possible causes, especially in the elderly.

J. Montgomery Curtis, director of the American Press Institute, Columbia University, who reads this column in batches, sends me the following for which I am grateful.

Father to Boy Scout Son: "Did you do your good deed today?"

Said the boy: "Yes, me and four other Boy Scouts helped an old lady across the street."

Said the father: "OK, but why did it take five of you to help the old lady across the street?"

Said the boy: "She didn't want to go."

DEAR MRS. C. G.: Not very danged many!

MRS. C. G., NORTH FORT MYERS, FLORIDA

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 and my problem is my parents. I met a very nice boy who is 17. He is a sharp kid and a real neat dresser. My parents met him and decided they didn't like him because his pants were too tight. Now they won't let me go out with him for that reason. He keeps calling and asking to see me, and I keep making up excuses. I can't tell him my parents are square, can I?

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVED AND LOST": The phrase, "It's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all" is not always true. Many would have chosen never to have loved at all if only they could get back what they lost.

DEAR ABBY: I believe that my mother-in-law is one in a million. Judging from most of your letters about mothers-in-law, I am lucky. We get along wonderful and even think and do things alike. When I want-

Once the cause is definitely determined, effective treatment automatically follows. High blood pressure, arteriosclerosis, Meniere's disease and other inner ear disturbances can be benefited by drugs, dietary regimes, limitation of fluids and salt intake, and by avoiding rapid changes of position.

Additional Comment

Meniere's disease deserves an additional comment. This condition of dizziness, which combines with noise in the head (tinnitus) and sometimes deafness, is a very specific disease entity. Unfortunately, Meniere's disease has become a catch-all category for almost every kind of true or imagined dizziness.

The unsteadiness and imbalance associated with dizziness provoke tremendous feelings of fear and anxiety, especially in the older person. Fear of falling and loss of control in traffic, for example, severely limit the activities of patients who have occasional episodes of dizziness.

They need a tremendous amount of assurance and reassurance. This is one of the most important ingredients in the total treatment of dizziness.

SPRING WARM-UP

The brisk invigorating days of early spring are beginning their call of the wild for the outdoor exercise enthusiasts.

After a winter of hibernation and inactivity, during which most exercise was limited to trips between the television set and the refrigerator, a slow body conditioning is imperative.

Gradual Start

To be most effective, physical exercise should begin gradually with mild warm-up and stretching periods. Callisthenics must be carefully chosen to fit the individual needs without overexertion.

Stories Behind Words

During the 15th Century the manufacture of a ribbed, or corded, silk fabric was begun at Avignon, France.

For about 300 years the production of the fabric was centered at Avignon. In 1775 French Huguenots, seeking to escape religious persecution, fled to England and introduced the manufacture of the fabric there. In time, the fabric was made from materials other than silk.

The French had named the new fabric "papelaine," paper, in honor of the Pope's residence at Avignon.

After the manufacture of "papelaine" was introduced to England, the name was corrupted to "poplin."

Self-Help Urged For Arthritides

HARRISBURG (UPI) — An Allentown physician has called for more widespread use of simple and economical self-help devices for arthritis sufferers.

The Daily Record, The Stroudsburgs, Pa. — Tues., April 7, 1964

Dr. Dominic Donlo, director of the department of physical medicine and rehabilitation at Sacred Heart Hospital, Allentown, said the devices could compensate for impediments which present an impasse therapeutically. However, Donlo told the Second Pennsylvania Conference on Arthritis here that such devices should not be used to replace therapeutic measures.

New idea in life insurance! Nationwide's "Adjustable Plan" lets one policy do the work of four

You buy one policy, then add or subtract other kinds of protection as often as your needs change. It is the most flexible plan ever.

Include any of these "Benefits" in one Nationwide policy. Add or subtract them as your needs change.

These 4 "Benefits" required separate policies until now

Wife and Children Benefit: Provides insurance for wife and each child. All children born after the "Benefit" starts are insured automatically after 15 days at no extra cost. This "Benefit" also guarantees your children can get more life insurance of their own when they reach age 22—regardless of their health at the time.

College Savings Benefit: Provides money to pay for your children's college education. You pay as much as 15 percent less for this plan than for all other college endowment-type plans. Nationwide guarantees the money you pay in will earn substantial interest. NOTE: The sooner you start, the lower your payments.

Family Security Benefit: Low-cost, extra insurance for father. It provides a large amount of protection for wife and children while children are young. Then it decreases in face value as children grow older. It is called decreasing term insurance. Can be carried by father for a term of 10, 15, 20 years, or to his age 65.

"Level Term" Benefit: Good to have to protect family against large debt. It is term insurance. It runs for a specific term—10 or 15 years. It does not build up cash value. It is pure insurance. That's why it costs less than insurance that builds up cash value. Level term pays full face amount if you die anytime within term.

These 5 "Benefits" can also be added to your one policy

"Dividend Term" Benefit: Insurance that is completely paid for by the dividends from your basic policy. Good to have if you borrow money from your policy—makes sure your wife will receive full amount of policy if you die before repaying money you borrowed.

Guaranteed Insurability Benefit: Lets you buy more insurance—as much as $60,000 more—as you get older regardless of health. You'd be surprised how many men find it difficult and costly to get more insurance as they grow older because their health changes.

Accidental Death Benefit: Can provide as much as two and three times the face amount of your basic life insurance policy if death is due to an accident. A "must" if you travel a lot. Nationwide now offers this "Benefit" to age 70 instead of just age 65.

Waiver of Premium Benefit: Self-completing "Benefit." If you become totally and permanently disabled and can't work, Nationwide will make all your premium payments for you. This "Benefit" lets you keep your full insurance protection no matter what happens.

Retirement Benefit: Guarantees your right to buy retirement income anytime in the future at today's low prices. Can save you quite a bit. Cost of retirement insurance is steadily going up as people live longer, but your low premium will always stay the same.

Until today, if you had a life insurance policy on yourself, you had to buy a new policy to insure your wife. Another for your mortgage. And so on. Complicated. And you paid extra to have the new policies written.

Today, Nationwide's "Adjustable Life Plan" ends all this. It lets you custom-tailor a single policy to fit your needs, and change it as your needs change. Simple. And it gets rid of those extra costs. Here's how it works:

LET'S SAY you already have a policy on yourself, and you now want to insure your wife and new baby.

Until now, you had to buy a brand-new policy to insure them both.

There were drawbacks to this. You had to pay extra to cover the paper work involved in writing a new policy. You also had to take more insurance on yourself.

Eliminates paying extra costs

Now with Nationwide's "Adjustable Life Plan," you can insure your wife and child without buying a brand-new policy and without buying more insurance on yourself.

You select Nationwide's "Wife and Children Benefit" and add it to your basic Nationwide policy. It's as simple as that.

Add or subtract 9 "Benefits"

You can do the same thing with four different "Benefits" that used to require buying separate policies—the top four described at the left. Besides that, you can add the five described below at the left. Nine "Benefits" in all.

With these nine "Benefits," you can custom-tailor a single policy to fit your needs. Add the "Benefits" as you need them. Subtract them as your needs change.

If you'd like to learn more about this amazingly flexible plan, call your local Nationwide representative today. He can lend you a hand with all your insurance needs—life, health, home and auto. He's listed in the Yellow Pages.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FOR NATIONWIDE POLICYHOLDERS

If you now own a basic Nationwide Life Insurance policy (Whole Life or Endowment), and you bought it since 1948, you can go back and revise it with any of these nine "Benefits."

Cancer Fund Drive Starts

CRESCO — Mrs. Roy Shoemaker, chairman of the Barrett Township Cancer Society, announced the cancer fund drive has started in the township.

She said checks given to canvassors should be made out to the Monroe County Cancer Society. The chairman explained the drive will last for 30 days. She said the Barrett society is able to start its drive before the national drive because of the rural complexion of the township.

The national drive will start April 15.

WHAT IS A GENERIC NAME?

A generic name is the basic name for a group of similar drugs. But, it does not mean that all of these products are the same in quality. This fact may not be important for some types of products but it certainly is when it comes to medicines. This is why your physician specifies a brand name in which he has faith when he writes you a prescription.

Brand names may sometimes cost a little more but the assurance of quality and effectiveness more than makes up for this. When it comes to health no one wants to rely on off-brands. We prefer only those drugs made by the reputable pharmaceutical firms.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US WHEN YOU NEED A MEDICINE

Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Marty and Henri Baldwin are back, and like yeast in a pan of dough their presence is enough to start the social activity rising. They are regarding the pale and wan natives with a pitying eye, sure that the weather we had yesterday is what we've been having ever since they left.

Which isn't true, of course. We have had some nice days. Well, Saturday and Sunday were, anyway. Perhaps for the sake of the golfers who were swarming all over Glen Brook both days from dawn to dusk, a day of rain will give them a chance to catch up to their aching muscles.

And it certainly gives the rest of us a chance to catch up on our griping and glooming. I doubt if Eleanor McCann knew whether it was raining or not with Mac safely home after a long, long tour of duty in Korea, the first they've been separated except when he was on combat duty.

And Betty McClelland is home from the hospital—all sort of hobbled by cast and wheelchair but a mighty welcome sight to her family. And speaking of family celebrations, the Wyckoffs mobilized a big one last night in honor of Mrs. E. H. Wyckoff Sr.

All in all, if it hadn't been for wet feet, splashed stockings, ruined hair-dos and a general tendency of feeling cold all the way to your bones, it could have been a very nice day.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

You would really think that an alarm clock would be a once-or-twice-in-a-lifetime purchase, wouldn't you? I suppose that it's the case with most families. But in ours it is different. The alarms we've owned are in a class by themselves . . . and possessed of the most alarming behavior habits!

Years ago, my husband and I had a clock that would go off at any hour it took a notion to make its presence felt. It could be set for six, but if it suddenly decided to sound forth, it gave out with such a terrific peal one would leap from bed and grab a robe, thinking Dooomsday was at hand. After a number of such episodes, we replaced it with one that was so unhappy at waking you, it never did—until a half hour or more after you had expected to be roused.

My favorite alarm clock was one I purchased here a year or more ago from Doris Hinton. It had everything . . . attractive appearance . . . a dial that glowed in a delicate, blushing pink shade, with one tiny, rosier spot to show you (even in the dark) that you HAD remembered to set the alarm. You could read the hour instantly without snapping on a light, and if it woke you a bit earlier than you wished to arise, you simply pressed a snooze bar and dozed off again, knowing the bells would ring in another ten minutes. I was delighted with it.

Then, one night when the entire family was gathered around my bed conversing, something startled us by hopping into the air and disappearing. It was the snooze bar of our alarm clock, making like a grasshopper. Doris replaced the clock, and we went on happily for another few months. But, in the middle of the night, sometime last week, I was awakened by an uproar that surely must have startled the entire neighborhood. It was several moments before I realized what was happening. My alarm was ringing . . . and not on the table at my side. It was on the floor. The clock was in pieces, and it was screaming for help, angrily and persistently. I couldn't shut it up until I scrambled from bed and disconnected the cord at the baseboard. It had been acting a bit oddly even before this time . . . as a matter of fact, one had to set the alarm for 8, if one wished it to go off at 7. I'm not sure why . . . but that's the way it was.

Until I replaced the clock, a friend telephoned each morning to remind me, "It's 6:45. Time to rise and shine." On the third day, I had a cute, new clock from our Jewelry Department. It does not glow in the dark. Time is its well kept secret through the night, unless you turn on the light to look. It does have a "wink" alarm . . . one of those bars that one presses down for ten more minutes of silence. It is "famous make," fully guaranteed.

The first morning I used it, my telephone rang and my friend caroled, "I thought I'd better telephone. After all, you're entitled to three days' service, and the third day is always the best. The third day is musical." Whereupon he began singing the howl, the weather report, and the invitation to rise and shine. He closed by asking how my alarm was working.

"Why . . . come to think of it, it didn't go off." I said, surprised. "It's set through. You know, YOU may have a permanent job."

Fifteen minutes later, the alarm sounded loud and clear. It is quite obvious that alarm clocks have personalities all their own. I'm sure no two are exactly alike. This one is a late starter . . . Just like me. It may take a little while to become acquainted, but we should hit it off rather well. The only big difference: my clock is a Sunbeam—even in the morning. In the morning, I DEFINITELY am not!

PCC Hillbillies

LOS ANGELES—Once upon a time there dwelled in the West a group of nine flatlanders who fought like hillbillies. They called their little clan the Pacific Coast Conference. Each member got along with the other like Charlie Finley gets along with Kansas City.

One of their richest properties was the Rose Bowl football game. Their fighting grew to such dimensions one year that more of their members were made ineligible for the game than eligible.

This was no easy trick, proof of which was that it had never been done for a bowl game before, anywhere.

USC, UCLA and Washington were suspended for having shipped cash in the alley to some of the players. Oregon State was out because of a "no repeat" rule which forbade a member from playing in the Bowl two years in a row.

And Idaho, which was sort of the towel boy for the league, was never eligible.

Considering the bonds of tender affection that linked the brotherhood, it was judged no upset when someone struck a match to the conference and blew up the whole thing.

It is a darkly fascinating aspect of human nature that one can come to miss fights. Take you and your wife, for instance. You sign a peace pact. You smile at each other. Watch TV and talk sweetly. This gets to be murder. Soon, you'll give anything if she'll start a beef.

So it was with the fighting clan on the Pacific Coast. They were lonely. Five of them finally got together and formed a fraternal order called the Athletic Association of Western Universities.

Then they took in a sixth member—and now it's just like old times with the addition the other day of Oregon and Oregon State.

One gentleman has suggested that they call the conference the Hard Eight, though it should, in truth, be named the Easy Eight, considering that they made it with a six and a two. There is nothing of a harmful nature about the new association, though you fail to see where it is any better today than it was six years ago when it dissolved.

Obviously, the original five members of the AAUW have no faith in aviation science, judging from their failure to expand their league nationally to include schools of greater size in larger population centers.

It is definitely established now that aircraft will be flying from Los Angeles to Chicago in 98 minutes by 1970. From the West Coast to New York will take roughly two hours, 10 minutes.

Clearly, geographical differences will have vanished in this country within 10 years, making it pointless for a school to feel any closer link to a neighbor 500 miles away than one 3,000 mile away.

This isn't to impute that anything is wrong with football at Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State. But if box office over the long range is important to others in the league, such as USC and UCLA, a national association would have been preferable.

In urging the disintegration of the old Pacific Coast Conference, UCLA pointed willfully to the time it took a national championship team into Varsity and drew $5,000 on a sunny day. And USC screamed that it drew 15,000 at Pullman.

If, of course, money is no object, and the primary target is the propagation of good, clean sport, then the big schools can't be damaged by the new expansion.

It isn't necessarily automatic that backward areas produce backward people. During the heyday of the Coast Conference, for example, it was discovered that Washington State alumni were shouldering the cost of the football recruiting program with a string of slot machines, presumably laden with lemons.

This was their answer to USC and UCLA alumni who were using raffles as a means for raising funds. Cadillac, mink stoles and holidays in Mexico were given away until word reached the State Attorney General, who wasn't of a sporting nature.

Nor was Washington standing short. Its boosters were diverting cash for recruitment from the promotion of a professional football game in the school's stadium.

Indeed, those were the good old days for the personalities now comprising the Easy Eight. In his parting speech before the decomposition of the Coast Conference, the late Red Sanders observed:

"If these people out here can ever get along, there's still hope for the United Nations."

Garagiola Says:

Baseball Simple-- Don't Explain It

NEW YORK (AP)—The time of the year approaches when the game called the national pastime will, once again, occupy the hearts and minds of men and—quite often—the nation's television screens.

While there are probably few males over the age of 12 who don't know the difference between a knuckle ball and a slider, a hunt and a pop fly, there are millions of ignorant women who think Dreesen is what goes into a roast chicken and Mays are the months that come after April.

Joe Garagiola, an NBC sports-caster, qualifies as an expert by virtue of nine years as a play-by-play announcer for the game. He assures this determined beginning student of baseball that to know the game is to love it.

Start By Watching
"But you don't have to learn all the rules of the game and the players' batting averages at the beginning," Joe counseled. "The way to start is to watch some games."

But if, in this preliminary know-nothing period, it is important to sound like a real baseball buff, Garagiola has compiled a simple set of phrases, which if used at the right moment, will impress the baseball fan of your choice.

Here they are, ready to be clipped and pasted inside your compact for surreptitious reference:

1. Any time you see the batter hit a ball into the air, you may say, "He sure got under that one."

2. Any time you see a batter hit a ball that hits the ground, you may say, "He sure got over that one."

3. Any time a batter hits a ball any distance, you may say, "He got good wood on that one."

4. Any time a pitcher throws the ball, you may say, "He's got good stuff on that one."

Comes With Time
None of this will help you with your knowledge of the game, of course. That can only come with time.

Garagiola understands the problems of learning to love baseball because he went through the basic training with his wife, Audrie.

It is not necessary to have all the rules explained, Garagiola continued, and in fact, it is better to avoid a full explanation, which will just be confusing.

"I thought baseball was pretty simple until a woman asked me to tell her the rules," he said.

And I suddenly found it was almost impossible to explain it.

"It's sort of out, just kind of basic science about four bases, three strikes, one ball, and three outs—never mind the errors—remember what Willie Mays said: 'When they hit it, I catch it. When they throw it, I hit it.'"

Komives Top Hoop Scorer

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard (Butch) Komives, Bowling Green's hot-headed basketball star, is the major college basketball scoring champion.

The 6-foot-1 senior fired at a 36.7 points-per-game clip—third highest average in history—and headed a record list of seven collegians with averages of better than 30 points per game, according to final statistics released today by the NCAA.

Nick Werhman of Seton Hall, last year's No. 1 scorer, finished second this season with a 33.2 mark.

Manny Newsome, Western Michigan, 32.7; Bill Bradley, Princeton, 32.3; Rick Barry, Miami, Fla., 32.2; Gary Bradds, Ohio State, 30.6; and Steve Thomas, Xavier, Ohio, 30.0, completed the 30-point club.

Komives vaulted from 43th position a year ago to the top spot. He capped his college career with a record 50 straight free throws in his last five games.

Only Frank Selvy, former Furman star, and ex-Utah gunner Bill McGill finished with higher season averages. Selvy averaged 41.7 points per game in 1954 and McGill posted a 38.8 mark in 1962.

Return Of Frantz Raises Hopes For S-burg Squad

STROUDSBURG—With seven lettermen returning to Stroud Union's baseball team this year—including court-embellished Fred Frantz—the Mountaineers of Coach Wilmont Smith open their diamond season today at Pen Argyl.

The belated return of Frantz, a starting pitcher who alternates in the outfield, raises the hopes for a Lehigh Valley League championship this season.

Married more than a year ago, Frantz became a temporary victim of a school board edict last Dec. 18 which disallowed any married student from participating in "any public performance."

In the name of the school."

The case was taken to court and last week Freddy won the right to play baseball in his senior year.

Other Lettermen
Joining Frantz (who posted a 4-0-1 mound record and batted .520 in the league and .368 overall) as returning lettermen are: Glenn Bisbing at shortstop, who hit .333 overall; Dave Pierson, pitcher-outfielder who posted a 5-2 hurling record and hit .275; Tom Moreken at third base who batted .295; Mike Thurston at backstop, who hit .192 but nonetheless displayed an uncanny ability at reaching base safely.

John Muller in center who batted .156, and Paul Albert in right who hit .189.

The losses include Ed Nevil at first, a .362 hitter, and Calvin Kresge at second, a .287 hitter. Vying for the first base job are Les David, Larry Ford, and Raymond Bango. The second base job is apparently sealed by Ed Yost.

Booster Pitching
In addition to righthander Frantz and lefty Pierson, the pitching department also will probably be strengthened by Glenn Bisbing and his younger brother, Bill, a pitcher-outfielder.

The Mountaineers last year finished second in the LVL behind powerful Northampton, completing the season with a 9-2-1 record.

What are the prospects for this season?

Says Smith: "We're going to try to win the league championship," although noting the road will be rough one. "Northampton has practically the same team back and Lehigh (one of the top contenders last year) has both starting pitchers back, so they'll be strong. Whitehall has merged with Coplay which will make them tough. And Emmaus had a young team last year."

Johnson Nipped By Braves, 2-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ken Johnson pitched perfect ball in six of the seven innings he worked for the Houston Astros, but the Milwaukee Braves caught up with the Colt right-hander for four straight hits in his other inning and beat Houston 2-1 in an exhibition baseball game Monday.

Joe Torre, Gene Oliver, Frank Bolling and Roy McMillan cranked successive singles to account for both Brave runs in the second inning. Johnson later walked a batter but then retired 16 straight before leaving for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

The victory was the 15th in 20 starts for Bobby Bragan's Braves this spring.

Manny Mota, a utility man hit a grand slam homer, highlighting a six-run Pittsburgh seventh inning as the Pirates whipped the Minnesota Twins 12-4.

Bob Bailey and Willie Stargell got three hits apiece as the Pirates collected 15 safeties.

Robin Roberts and Chuck Estrada hooked up to pitch shut-out ball while Baltimore Orioles scored and unearned run in the ninth inning for a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Chicago White Sox made a pair of first inning runs stand up and defeated the New Mets

2-1. New York's only run came on a homer by loser Tracy Stallard.

Cincinnati jumped on Philadelphia starter John Bozzer for three runs in the first inning and went on to beat the Phillies 5-3. Deron Johnson homered for the Reds and Gus Triandos and Cookie Rojas connected for Philadelphia.

Tigers Win
The Detroit Tigers rallied for six runs in the last two innings and whipped the Kansas City Athletics 8-7. Dick Green homered for the A's, who produced a 14-hit attack but still lost their fifth straight and 16th in 21 starts.

Willie Mays had a pair of doubles and a triple and scored three times as the San Francisco Giants outlasted the Chicago Cubs 9-7 in a Cactus League game. Bob Hendley and Bob Shaw, acquired in an off-season deal with Milwaukee, shared the pitching for San Francisco.

Bo Belinsky hurled seven strong innings as the Los Angeles Angels dumped the Cleveland Indians 7-1. Belinsky and Bob Dufila combined to hurl a three-hitter.

Stroud Union Appoints Silock New Grid Coach

By KEN O'BRIEN

Daily Record Sports Editor
STROUDSBURG — The football fortunes of Stroud Union High School will be placed in the hands this year of a Pennsylvania native who has been one of the most successful upstate New York scholastic grid coaches since 1957.

Andrew Robert Silock, 35-year-old Hazleton native, was named head coach of Stroud Union last night by Samuel O. Welby III, school athletic director.

He succeeds Jerry Stulgaitis who held the post from 1961-63 and prior to that from 1946-55. Jerry announced his retirement in the dressing room last Thanksgiving Day to his players just before they took the field against East Stroudsburg in the season's finale at Gordon Giffels Field.

Finished A Winner
Stulgaitis closed out the season on a winning note as the Mountaineers defeated the Cavaliers of Eastburg, 6-0 — the first Stroud Union win over its inter-borough rivals in six years.

But the last two seasons had been rocky ones for Stulgaitis and the Mountaineers. They finished the season last year with a 2-8 record. The year before showed but one win, eight losses and one tie.

Announcing the appointment of Silock, Welby said last night: "After interviewing numerous candidates and scanning more than 20 applications, I have come to the conclusion that this is the man who is going to do the job in Stroudsburg."

A graduate of Hazleton Senior High School and Penn State University, Silock achieved notable—and almost immediate—success when he went to Mohawk (N. Y.) Central School in 1956 as line coach. He was named head coach the following year.

A Title Winner
Taking over the full reins in 1957, his teams were Mohawk

Valley champions in 1958, '60, '61, '62 and '63. His team last year posted a 6-1-1 record to win the championship of the Iroquois League. His seven-year record stands at a superb 41-11-3.

In four of those years (1958, '60, '61 and '63) he was selected "Area Coach of the Year."

Before going to Mohawk Central, Silock had been player-coach at the Korea Base Command in 1947 (Record: 8-3) and from 1952-56 he served as line coach at Coal Township High School in Shamokin. In 1955, the team was Eastern Conference champs.

He also served as head wrestling coach at Coal Township School from 1955-56 where he compiled a two-year record of 15-11, and was head mentor at Mohawk Central from 1957 where his teams were Mohawk Valley champs in 1959-60, and Iroquois League champs in 1960, while compiling an overall record of 48-23-1.

Played Football
Silock played football for four years at Hazleton Senior High and was named to the all-regional and all-state teams in 1945-46. He also played four years of baseball and was named to the all-regional squad in 1943-44-45. He also participated in intramural boxing, wrestling, softball and golf.

His collegiate playing career includes a varsity letter in football at California State Teachers College and three letters at Penn State. He also won a varsity baseball letter at California.

Silock, who stands 5-11 and weighs 205 pounds, is married and is the father of two children.

Stan Musial Criticizes 'Bad Trades'

NEW YORK (AP) — Bad trades cost the St. Louis Cardinals four or five baseball pennants, Stan Musial said Monday.

The former $10,000-a-year outfielder and first baseman, who retired last year for a position of vice president with the St. Louis club and became head of the county's physical fitness program, was sharply critical of the Cardinal front office management in an article in Look Magazine.

The sale of first baseman Johnny Mize by owner Sam Breaden and General Manager Branch Rickey to the New York Giants in 1941 for $50,000 and two players was described as "the worst mistake."

Mize, Musial said, was "one of the finest hitters I ever saw."

Besides the sale of Mize, Musial listed as among the Cardinals' all-time worst trades:

In 1916, the sale of catcher Walker Cooper by Brendan to the Giants for $175,000.

In 1949, the sale of pitcher Murry Dickson by owners Fred Saigh and Robert Hannegan to the Pittsburgh Pirates for $125,000.

"Among them, Breaden, Rick, Saigh and Hannegan dealt the Cardinals at a conservative estimate, out of four or five pennants," Musial said.

In Carry Back's comeback campaign he has come back, first and third in his first three starts this year.

It's the pitching, though, that serves as the Dodgers' beacon light. The big three, Drysdale, Koufax and Johnny Podres, won 58 of the Dodgers' 99 games between them. Ron Perranoski, the superb relief pitcher who appeared in 69 games, won 16 and saved a dozen more.

"Right now, the choice for fourth spot is between Larry Sherry and Bob Miller," Alston said. Whichever doesn't get it will be the long relief man. Sherry looks like he's over his arm trouble.

"Pete Richert may be the fifth starter. He appears to have improved his curve ball."

Europe Title Swapped On Foul

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—"It's too bad it ended this way. I'm convinced I could have won the fight in a regular manner, too."
Gustav (Bubi) Scholz had just wrestled the European lightweight title from Giulio Rinaldi of Italy in a most irregular manner and the German was an unhappy champion.
Saturday night's scheduled 15-round bout before a packed house of 16,200 fans at the Westfalenhallen ended at the bell for the ninth round with Scholz declared the winner on a disqualification.
Scholz was almost helpless at the end of the eighth round after being clipped first by a kidney punch and then by a knee.

Plan Crackdown On Gambling

HARRISBURG (AP)—State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy pledged full cooperation this week with enforcement officials from Johnston and Cambria County in cracking down on gambling.

Purdy met for more than an hour with Johnston Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins, Police Chief Robert Burkhardt and Cambria County Dist. Atty. Ferdinand P. Bloncz.

The meeting stemmed from a state police raid last Thursday on an alleged numbers operation in the city of Johnston. Two women were arrested.

Tompkins charged later the county and state police conducted the raid without informing the city.

Purdy said the raid was a follow-up to an earlier crackdown on an out-of-city operation and was in no way intended to infringe on local rule.

Monroe County Courthouse in Stroudsburg.
Argument Court is held the first Monday of each month to permit lawyers to orally argue motions that have been filed with the court.
Yesterday's most unusual argument turned out to be no argument at all.
Mrs. Sadie Keiper of Long
Pond, who is contesting final adjudication of the will of Arch
Keiper, her late husband, appeared before the court without the benefit of a lawyer.
Mrs. Keiper's case was called to hear formal exceptions to the will's final adjudication. When asked if she was represented,
Mrs. Keiper said, "I haven't got a lawyer, but I think I can do a lot better than these attorneys."
Judge Davis thought different and he dismissed the exceptions that were never argued. As she

EAST STROUSBURG—"More people must realize that before construction work is started, a permit must be obtained at the East Stroudsburg borough manager's office," Michael Cabot of Candeb, Cabot and Associates, planning consultants.
Thomas L. Kistler, mayor of East Stroudsburg and Phillip
Williams, attorney, met with Cabot recently to discuss some of the problems encountered with East Stroudsburg's new buildings and business establishments zoning ordinance. All East Stroudsburg new buildings and business establishments must comply with the zoning ordinance, it was announced.
The group of planning consultants also held a discussion concerning special use problems including the location of fraternity houses in the borough.
Plans will be made to hold a meeting with college and fraternity officials to acquaint them with the zoning regulations they must comply with before a permit can be granted.
The planning group said that zoning records show that in the last half of 1963, $130,467.00 was the estimated cost of improvements and new construction.
The first quarter alone passed this estimate by $5,000. Much of this is attributed to the fact that home owners in residential sections are now protected from industrial and commercial establishments entering the residential zones.
For violators of the ordinance
—upon conviction—a fine of up to $300 may be imposed for each day of the violation.
